BURGLARS BUSY LAST NIGHT; GET GOODS WORTH OVER $300.

Italian Jewelry Store on Peach Street Was Looted Some Time After 4.30 This Morning.

OTHER PLACES WERE VISITED.

However, Little of Value Was Secured Except From Jeweler's Shop—C. M. & C. Company's Store Visited But Little of Value Taken.

Burglars were active along Peach and Water streets at an early hour this morning and made a rich haul of jewelry, revolvers, knives and other articles. Three places that are known of, were visited, but only two entered. The jewelry store of Nunzio Conelli on Peach street was lifted in a particularly bold manner. Mr. Conelli, who had a large amount of repair work to be done worked all night and up until 1.30 this morning, when he locked the front door and went to Pittsburgh street after some lunch. He was gone perhaps 15 or 20 minutes and upon returning found the front door standing wide open. Right in investigation disclosed the fact that the entire tray of watches, which had been repaired were missing together with much other valuable goods. He figures his loss between $90 and $350, having lost watches, watch cases, revolvers, gold and silver rings, knives and other property.

The burglars were evidently informed as to the situation and may have been keeping watch on the establishment for its return. It was reported to make such a rich haul in so short a time. It is possible that the men had been watching the place for several hours. Apparently one of the number had a key for the spring lock as this did not appear to have been broken or forced open. Mr. Conelli is positive that he looked the door upon leaving the place. He also left bright gas lights in the store burning. His first suspicion is on West Peach street opposite the whole establishment of L. Ramonetti & Company.

The store of the Connellville Machine & Car Company on Water street was also entered during the night, entrance being gained through a rear door which was pried open. A few cheap revolvers and knives were taken but nothing of much intrinsic value was missed. A few dollars will cover the loss at this place. Grant Ayres, manager of the store, says that men lay that requiring the back door both ended more than the goods that were missed.

An effort was made to enter the hardware and jewelry store of R. Scarpino & Company, also on Peach street, but to no avail. The nothing of a screen door was in three places the burglars apparently failed to get in. They were unsuccessful in getting in with no better luck in a temptation to force a rear window.

The police already have one suspect in the case, who is a man named Nick, an Italian laborer, who has been on Peach street was placed under arrest early this morning soon after the burglaries were known. It is said that he was working in the neighborhood of the public establishment. The officers think he has a part in the case. He was arrested by State Constable Mison and Myers and Officers Lowe and Anderson.

PLAN GREAT VOYAGE.

Navy Department at Work
Preparing Battleship for 13,000 Knot Journey.

TO CHARTER TWELVE COLLIERIES

Extra Coal Ships Needed to Supply
Great Fleet with 100,000 Tons for Voyage Through Straits of Magellan to the Pacific Coast.

Washington Aug. 27.—Voting Secretary Newberry has returned to Washington bringing official word of the conclusion reached at the Oyster Bay conference last week relative to the projected cruise of the great battleship fleet from the Eastern to the Western coasts of the United States by way of the straits of Magellan. Necessarily these conclusions were on broad lines and it was found expedient to leave to Admiral Evans and his staff the arrangement of the details of the voyage and to the heads of the various naval bureaus the preparation of the plans which will make it possible for the great fleet to leave the Atlantic coast in perfect condition for this voyage of 13,772 knots.

Even up to this time it has been impossible for a variety of reasons to positively fix the date of the departure of the Atlantic fleet. Naval regulations require that each vessel should carry out the published order as to target practice every quarter and no naval officer is willing that this important practice should be dispensed with even for this cruise. Target practice is favorably followed by more or less damage to the ships, requiring their return to a navy yard for repairs before they can be regarded as in proper condition for a prolonged absence from their home ports.

To Make Changes in Turret. Then it is fully expected that the turret board now in session in this city will recommend a number of changes in the turret mechanism of the ships to protect the lives of the gunners and ammunition handlers. Some time too must be allowed the collars to arrive at designated points and it is expected that several months will be needed to place the yards on the Pacific coast in readiness for the reception of the battleship fleet which will certainly be needed on pairs by the time it arrives on the Pacific station.

Everything will be in readiness for the fleet to sail on December 1 and the date of departure will be between December 1 and 15. All of the orders to the heads of bureaus are of verbal character. As arranged the itinerary provides for 10 knots an hour which is regarded as the most economic speed for the fleet. This will permit the collars to accompany the fleet for part of the voyage on the Atlantic side. Then starting with the Atlantic side, the ships will require in addition 100,000 tons of coal, not counting the coal that will be burned by the torpedo boats which will be provided by the main fleet. This great supply of coal must be provided by collars. Four small collars—the Hannibal, Marcellus, Stirling and Natchez—carrying 2,000 tons each will accompany the fleet to Trinidad and the larger collars—the Ajax, Abasco, Butte, Greaser and Norcross—carrying 4,000 tons each, will go as far as P. Janeiro.

It will be necessary to charter 12 additional collars and four of these will meet the fleet at Sandy Point, Magdalena, Surinam, four at Callao, Peru and four at Magdalena Bay. Each of these collars will carry 4,000 tons of coal.

It is the intention of the navy department to buy as much American coal as possible but in some instances foreign coal will have to be used. The character of the torpedo boats makes it possible for them to coal at regular stations devoted to commerce steamers.

The Panther, carrying a full machine gun and engine, and the Glacier, supply ship, will accompany the fleet the entire voyage.

Magdalena Bay will be reached about March 9 according to plan, but the itinerary at this point gives 10 days. Additional target practice here will continue for about a month. Some of the battleships will then go to Puget sound and part to San Francisco. Nothing has been settled concerning the return of a part or all of the fleet and possibly will not be set until 60 days in advance of actual return.

TRAIN HAS CLOSE CALL

Narrowly Escapes Plunge Over 50-Foot Embankment Into River.

Philadelphia, Aug. 27.—A forward truck on one of the passenger coaches is attached to the Potomac accommodation train of the Philadelphia & Reading railway, and a switch on the west side of the Selwitt river near the approach to the hills of Selwitt bridge this city and the engine and truck are upon plunging over a 50-foot embankment into the river.

After the truck fell the train stopped and no one was injured. The train was stopped before it could plunge over the bridge and the train was turned up the road for the entire distance. The passengers in the train were taken to the river bank but no one was injured.

ROYALTY ACCLAIMED

Officials of Massachusetts Make Much of Swedish Prince

Boston Aug. 27.—Massachusetts gave Prince Wilhelm of Sweden a cordial welcome both at Worcester where he first stepped upon the soil of the Bay state and in this city where he was the guest of the commonwealth. He met state and city officials and a large number of his countrymen and in every instance he was acclaimed with enthusiasm and his words of thanks were heartily cheered.

He came to Worcester from Providence where he had spent the forenoon. He was greeted by Gov. Guild and Lieut. Gov. Draper and from that time until he retired to the hotel after numerous receptions and a state banquet the chief executive of the state was almost constantly by his side. At the station in Worcester several Swedish societies sang national anthems and at City Hall the prince was welcomed to the city by Mayor J. C. Duggan and presented to the city government. A luncheon at the Worcester club and a reception completed the program and at 5 o'clock he left for this city on a special train. The banquet given the prince by the state at Algonquin club was the formal recognition of his visit to Massachusetts. Gov. Guild who presided proposed a toast to King Oskar of Sweden and Prince Wilhelm responded briefly. After the banquet an informal reception was held at the Hotel Somerset.

LYNCHING IN NEBRASKA

Twenty Men Take Murderer From Sheriff and Hang Him

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 27.—At 11 o'clock, when the sun was high, a mob of twenty men, armed with rifles and shotguns, gathered in front of the jail in Omaha, Neb. They were there to lynch a man named John J. Young, who had been convicted of the murder of a woman named Mary Jane Young. The mob broke into the jail and took Young from the sheriff's custody. They then hung him from a gallows in the town square.

When the sheriff left for Omaha, he was accompanied by a number of men who were also there to lynch Young. They were all armed and they were all determined to do it. They were all there when the sheriff arrived and they were all there when Young was taken from the jail.

THE KIDNAPPED MILLIONAIRES

A TALE OF WALL STREET AND THE TROPICS

"We might try mosquitoes," said Mr. Kent. "Some of them are large enough."

They approached the gateway concerning the ocean with the bay. This they found to be a passage not more than 100 yards in width, the cliffs rising perpendicularly on either side of the water. Outside was a bar over which the long swell of the ocean rolled in curling breakers, as they reached the uplands of the shore. Inside was deeper water, where the waves regained a part of their strength as they glided smoothly into the gateway.

"Let's see if we can get outside," said Mr. Kent. "If we can pass those breakers we can paddle out a mile or so and perhaps slip up this island. Let's try it. You can swim, I suppose?"

"Yes, I can swim, and I guess we will have to before we can pass those breakers," said Sidney, as he watched the great surges sweep over the bar. "We will try it if you wish to take the risk."

"I am not afraid," said Mr. Kent, stoutly.

"All right. We will leave our guns and shoes ashore," suggested Sidney. "Our shirts and trousers are no more incumbrance than a bathing suit."

They stripped and paddled the raft boldly out to the bar. The nearer they approached the higher did the breakers appear. A mass of green water would rise from the sea; its upper edge frayed with a line of light; the top-heavy mass would poise for an instant and then fall in a graceful curve, breaking into sparkling masses of foam. The roar of these falling tons of water was in their ears, but they pushed steadily on. A giant wave dashed its strength out in a watery roar so near them that the spray fell in their eyes and the salt on their lips.

"Now is the chance," shouted Sidney.

"Hurry! Row hard!" They pushed on their crude paddles with all their strength. One hundred yards away the wave was a swirling plain of smooth rollers. Could they reach it? The next wave rose before them. The forward end of the raft tilted back until it was nearly upright. Five feet in their rear the swell broke and churned the water in fury.

"Hurry!" shouted Sidney. "Once more and we are all right!" As he spoke a mountain of water welled up from the ocean. Sidney gave it one glance. He knew the mounds of the sea too well to make any mistake about that wave. Fifty feet away it reared its crest. Dark blue and blending green above it rose until it towered above their heads.

"Dive into it!" cried Sidney, as the edge of the ocean broke into dazzling white.

Mr. Kent hesitated for a moment, but Sidney dove straight into the breaker. For a few seconds, which seemed minutes, his ears were filled with the crash of waters. The undertow pulled him down as if he were a straw. It seemed as if the weight of tons was holding his down; but, with a lusty stroke he came to the surface. He shook the water out of his eyes and looked for Mr. Kent. He was not in sight!

Sidney raised himself out of the water as high as possible and searched the foam-flecked water. The succeeding wave swept over him. Like all good swimmers, he kept his eyes open when under water. To the right he saw the dark outlines of some dark object, and struck out for it.

As Sidney came to the surface the second time, he saw Mr. Kent only a few yards away. He was conscious and was struggling desperately but wildly to keep afloat. In a moment Sidney was by his side. The next wave did not break and both had a breathing spell.

"Throw your left arm across my back and hang to my arm," said Sidney, as he passed his arm under Mr. Kent's chest. "Keep cool; we are all right."

Mr. Kent did not for a moment lose his nerve or his self-control. He did as Sidney directed, grasping his shirt with a firm hold and using his right hand to aid in a clinging. These things they went through in the boiling surf, but they were along yet steadily progress toward the inlet. Mr. Kent did not reply in answer to Sidney's reassuring words, but devoted all his energies to keeping above water.

At last they passed the danger point, and reached the quiet water, where the shattered surges rolled with a gentle swell. Mr. Kent glanced back and released his hold.

"I'm all right," he said. "Much obliged."

Mr. Kent struck out for the raft, which was bobbing up and down in the water a few rods away. Sidney swam at his side and soon climbed aboard the raft. He helped Mr. Kent to his feet, and then swam for the puddles, which were floating toward the rocks. He recovered him and was again safe on the raft.

"Are you all right, Mr. Kent?" asked Sidney, as he grasped the hand of his companion and shook it dry.

"I am all right, except that I have a quart or more of salt water in my stomach," said Mr. Kent, who seemed more chastened than hurt. "It is a lucky thing for me that you are a strong swimmer. I could not have kept up. You saved my life, I am sure. I don't know how to thank you for a little thing like that."

"Don't try," said Sidney, laughing heartily. "I am glad you are not in harm. How did it happen?"

"I was a fool. I did not take your advice and dive in there," said Mr. Kent. "I thought the raft would ride that wave and so I took a chance. It tipped squarely over and when I tried to jump my foot slipped. The raft came over right on top of me, and for a moment I was stunned. I don't know how long I was under water. The first thing I remember was when you pulled me out. I know enough to do as I was told. In my time, I have helped people out of the water and have not forgotten the rule. The next wave would have fixed me. I could not get my breath, and was losing my strength."

"They soon were on shore," moved their garments, wringing them out, and remained in the shade of a tree until their clothing was dried sufficiently to wear. Mr. Kent would listen to no proposition involving an immediate return to the lighthouse, and stoutly declared he was as well as ever. After an hour's rest they proceeded to climb the slope of the rock which formed the north point of the lighthouse. It was a long, hard struggle over the rocks and through brush and briars. But they kept on and at last stood on the summit of the crag, 400 feet above the ocean.

"Look at that!" exclaimed Sidney. He pointed in the direction where there was a cliff in the ridge of hills to the northwest. There showed the faint outlines of a distant giant mountain peak; a pyramid whose top was white with eternal snow.

"See that mountain peak?" he exclaimed. Mr. Kent's eyes were not so good as Sidney's, but he soon made out the outlines of a mountain. "That peak is about 150 miles from here," said Sidney in great joy. "It must be on the mainland of Mexico or Central America. There are no ranges on any islands with peaks like that. We are within sight of shore. That mountain is a long way off, but I do not believe that it can be more than 150 miles. It looks like a volcano. I imagine I can see a column of smoke above it. With a favorable wind we can make the mainland in a day. This is great. We can build a boat and get away from this island in less than two weeks at the most."

"It certainly looks as if you are right," said Mr. Kent. "I wonder how big this island is?"

They studied the shape of the coast, but it gave no answer to Mr. Kent's question. From where they stood it was apparent no exploration of the shore from below was possible. Even at low tide the ocean bent at the foot of the rocks, casting its spray far up their sides. In places, caverns into the cliffs. They detected the northern ridge of hills by sighting the brow of the cliffs, but postponed this until after luncheon. This they ate with good appetite, and luckily found a spring of clear, cool water bubbling from the crevice of a rock.

"Simon Pence is a queer character," observed Sidney, tossing a banana skin over the cliff. "I suppose he means well, but he is what some people call a little queer."

"Did you ever hear of the time the committee waited on him to give a contribution for some charity?" asked Mr. Kent.

Sidney had not.

"It was decided to raise a sum of money for some deserving charity," continued Mr. Kent. "I have forgotten what it was—there are so many of them. At any rate, the paper went the rounds, and they called on me among others. I signed for a sum, and glanced over the list. Morton was down for $25,000. Rockwell had signed for $25,000. Curran had pledged $1,000—he is very liberal and charitable, as he can afford to be. There was a lot of others. I noticed that Mrs. Simon Pence was on the paper for $50. Well, the committee called on Pence. They were admitted and explained their mission. He signed and looked at the list. He read it up and down, and suddenly came upon the name Mrs. Simon Pence. He picked up his pen and wrote something. The committee was all expectation. He handed it back to them. What do you suppose they saw?"

"I am sure I cannot guess!"

"He had written 'Mr. and Mrs. Simon Pence.' This was his contribution. There is no way to beat him. Let's be moving."

They made their way along the edge of the cliffs for nearly half a mile, but could go no further. Following their steps, they again stood on the rock overlooking "Morton's Bay" and the ocean.

At the same moment both gave an exclamation and pointed out to sea. The upper rigging of a ship showed clear on the eastern horizon, but she was half down on the side of waters. For half an hour they gazed at the dim outlines of masts and sails.

"She is fully 25 miles away," said Sidney, as he gazed longingly at the disappearing vessel. "We must erect a signal from some point like this, and keep a man on watch during the day. If one ship passes more are likely to, and some may come near enough to see and understand our signal."

"Look at those clouds," said Mr. Kent. "There comes your storm. What time is it?"

"Half past two. Those are remarkable-looking clouds. I never saw anything like them before. Let us get our raft across the bay. If Vincent and Pence are out there they will come back at once. We are going to have some wind."

In the southeast a murky rainbow of clouds extended over a quarter of the horizon. The color of this arch reached into deep blues, dove the sea line. Its upper edges were gray, with flecks of white. Then it shaded into a blue, and lower into a band of darker gray. Below it was a soft blue, and a further shade of the horizon. Before Sidney and Mr. Kent had reached the raft, the breeze had died away. So they did not start until the heavens.

It was three o'clock when the raft reached the place which had been agreed upon. Sidney fired his pistol as a signal, and he was joined at the top of their view. The waves were no response, and the raft lay, and a sea breeze sprang. Under the rocks, the raft lay, and a sea breeze sprang. Under the rocks, the raft lay, and a sea breeze sprang. Under the rocks, the raft lay, and a sea breeze sprang.

"There was a moaning sound in the air which seemed to come from the sea. The raft was pulled in and in a little red light of light. The trees were motionless as if held in a breeze."

"How fast the raft is up!" exclaimed Mr. Kent. "It is a miracle. Look at that!"

He pointed toward the light. A dark shape rose out of the sea. On the opposite shore was a moving line of white.

"Ship, ship! It's a ship!" cried Sidney. The wave came to the raft. The raft was pulled in and in a little red light of light. The trees were motionless as if held in a breeze."

"Ship, ship! It's a ship!" cried Sidney. The wave came to the raft. The raft was pulled in and in a little red light of light. The trees were motionless as if held in a breeze."

Sidney and Mr. Kent came from behind the sheltering rock. They presented a sorry sight. Their duck suits were streaked with mud and their faces tense and drawn by excitement and lack of sleep. They washed their hands and faces in the lake, and then climbed the ridge, where they obtained an unbroken view of the bay. To their delight they saw the figures of four men on the stone pier. Sidney waved his hat and was greeted by a answering signal. The people of the lighthouse shouted across the water, and Sidney and Mr. Kent yelled in return. Mr. Morton, Mr. Curran, and the companions speedily pulled and launched a new raft and were soon rowing to the relief of the two newcomers.

"Where are Pence and Vincent?" shouted Mr. Morton, as the raft neared the shore.

"They did not return," said Sidney, at an afraid they were lost in the storm.

Sidney would not listen to the proposition that he return with Mr. Kent to the lighthouse. Though wet and hungry, he joined Mr. Morton and plunged into the forest to find the missing man, dead or alive. He was glad to learn that the lighthouse had survived the hurricane with small damage, and that none of the occupants were injured.

CHAPTER XVIII.

MR. PENCE DISCOVERED GOLD. With much difficulty Mr. Simon Pence reached the lighthouse, and, aided by Vincent, finally reached the top. He sat on a log, looking back behind, and followed his young and sturdy companion into the half angle which lay before them. They found it packed with falling the cliffs along the coast, to make fairly rapid progress. Their path was hindered by frequent slips, but they proceeded laboriously, and in a little while they were at the top of the cliff.

Shortly after noon they ate their lunch. They rested on a ledge overlooking the sea. Two miles to the west a low range reached out into the water, and beyond that lay the bay. The bay was a wide expanse of water, and beyond that lay the bay. The bay was a wide expanse of water, and beyond that lay the bay.

IN "SHOW ME" STATE.

Secretary Taft Makes Addresses on National Questions at Various Places.

ARRIVES AT SPRINGFIELD, MO.

Small But Enthusiastic Crowds Greet Him on Journey From Oklahoma City—Missouri Being "Shown"

How They Should Vote Next Year

Joplin, Mo., Aug. 27.—Secretary Taft made three speeches to residents of Missouri. En route to Joplin from Oklahoma City he was greeted by 300 citizens at Claremore, I. T., who were at the station as the train passed through, and at Tulsa there was another enthusiastic crowd on hand. At Joplin 1,500 persons greeted him at the station.

Secretary Taft delivered his first speech in Joplin in the morning, addressing a throng and talking principally on the trusts and rate legislation. The city was crowded with visitors, who had come from various parts of Missouri and from across the line in Kansas.

Later Secretary Taft was escorted to Webb City, a nearby mining town, where after luncheon he delivered his second speech. Along the railway line between the two cities he was cheered by good-sized crowds, made up in part of zinc miners.

In the afternoon Secretary Taft spoke a third time at Carthage. He returned here later and last night went to Springfield, Mo.

TO KEEP CUBA CLEAN

Uncle Samuel Assumes Another Task That Belongs to Others.

Washington, Aug. 27.—Designating the ability of the Cuban municipalities to keep the cities clean and free from yellow fever, the central government has at last formally undertaken that task. Chief Surgeon Koenig cabled the war department upon his return from Cienfuegos, which he says is at present the only place where yellow fever prevails, that Gov. Maxson had signed the decree nationalizing the sanitation. From this time on the work of disinfection and the extermination of the yellow fever mosquito will proceed under the direction of officers appointed by Gov. Maxson, in most cases surgeons of the army or marine hospital service. In the opinion of Gov. Maxson, as set out in a cablegram received at the war department, the yellow fever will be eradicated within six weeks. There may be a few sporadic cases during the period, but there is no danger of an epidemic. Surgeon Koenig reports five new cases in Cienfuegos, making 10 in all, but these were among civilians. All of the soldiers who were at first affected, with one exception, have been discharged as cured and that one is convalescent.

VETERAN PACKER DEAD.

Nelson Morris, One of the Old Guard in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—(Special.)—Nelson Morris, millionaire packer, died at his home this morning after a lingering illness of heart disease. He died in the house in which he had lived ever since starting his career in Chicago.

Morris was one of the remaining members of the old guard to whom the city owes its supremacy in the packing industry.

TANNER IS SUED.

Frank Z. Jones Says G. A. R. Man Called Him a Boor.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 27.—(Special.)—Corporal James T. Tanner, past Grand Commander of the G. A. R., has been made defendant in a $25,000 damage suit.

Frank Z. Jones of Rome, N. Y., alleged when he (Jones) was a candidate for Commander, Tanner wrote a letter referring to him as a "boor." This, Jones charges, defeated him.

Warmer Tonight.

Rain and warmer tonight; Wednesday fair is the moon weather but little.

D. R. RYAN DEAD.

Resident of Buffalo, but the Funeral Will Be Held Here.

D. R. Ryan, aged 56 years, 11 months and 3 days, a well known resident of Buffalo, N. Y., died Tuesday, August 20, at Hot Springs, Ark., where he went several weeks ago for the benefit of his health. The body will arrive at Layton station today and will be taken to the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. B. S. Carson, Resolute, high mass will be celebrated tomorrow morning at 8:45 o'clock in the Immaculate Conception church on East Main street. The body will arrive here on B. & O. train No. 48. Interment in St. Joseph's Cemetery.

Mr. Ryan was a contractor for many years, and when taken ill he was working at Alussee, Ala. His death was the immediate cause of his death. He was formerly a resident of Pittsburgh. Deceased was a member of the Fraternal Order of Eagles at Buffalo and a member of the Knights of Columbus at Steubenville, O. He is survived by his wife and three children, who have been visiting relatives at Layton for the past several months. His father and the following brothers survive: Joseph of Uniontown and Robert of Pittsburgh. One sister also survives, Mrs. Joseph Lutz of Pittsburg.

SEPTEMBER COURT.

Officials Getting Everything in Shape for the Opening on Monday Morning Next.

UNIONTOWN, Aug. 27.—The court officials and others are getting everything in shape for the opening of the September term of court, next Monday. The constables have been busy for the past few days serving papers on those who are expected to be in attendance as witnesses. The district attorney has all his cases in hand, ready for presentation to the Grand Jury, while the clerks in the office of the Prothonotary have them docketed, which will save a great deal of work during the weeks of court, when they are always busy.

The first week will be devoted to the trial of civil cases, of which there are 34 listed. The Grand Jury will also be in session during the first week, and the outlook is that they will have plenty of work to keep them busy during the entire week. The adjournment of the many cases brought by S. P. Murray against the West Penn people, and also those brought by workmen of the company against Murray and his three sons will lighten the work of the Grand Jury very considerably.

FATS AND LEANS.

Contest at Last About to Be Picked Off—Both Teams Are Trained to the Minute.

Time, 2:30 P. M. Place, Marietta-Stillwagon Park.

That's the schedule, and promptly according to Hoyle and Cushing's Manual the Fats and Leans will begin their annual battle for scalps. Of course, the heavyweights brought along some bad weather, but they blame it on the slinky fellows. At all events an effort will be made to pull off the hottest contest in local baseball history.

Both teams are trained to the minute. Indeed, there is four in the Fat Men's army that some of their opponents have trained themselves down so low as to get under the weight limit.

Napoleon Lajolo and Hans Wagner won't be in it with these baseball nerds, who promise to pull off all kinds of fine stunts. A class in coaching has been working hard to fathom the mystery of base ball slang, and some new terms will be coined to fit the present occasion.

PLANT RESUMES.

Industry Again Booming at New Castle After Shut Down.

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Aug. 27.—(Special.)—After being idle 20 days, the Shenango Valley Steel plant, operated by the Carnegie Steel Company, will resume Thursday. Twenty-five hundred men are employed.

Repairs have been made in the plant. The Shenango tin mill, employing 2,500 men, will resume September 16. It has been idle since July 2.

ANNUAL PICNIC.

Of the Veterans at Fairview Farm to Be Held Tomorrow.

The annual picnic of Civil War Veterans of the neighborhood at Fairview farm, in Dunbar township, will be held tomorrow and a large attendance is expected. All old veterans are cordially invited to attend.

Some time during the day the Union Veteran Legion will hold its regular meeting to elect delegates to the National Convention at Gettysburg.

FIRST HANGING

In 20 Years is Performed in Indiana County Today.

INDIANA, Pa., Aug. 27.—(Special.)—The first hanging in this country for over 20 years occurred today when Christine Russo, 45 years old, was hanged for the murder of his sweetheart two years ago.

The rope broke the first time and a new one had to be used. The man was half dead when hanged again.

SHADY GROVE DANCE.

Given Last Evening by the Misses Huston of Uniontown.

A delightful social event was a private dance given last evening at the Shady Grove park by Misses Helen and Mary Huston of Uniontown. About 40 couples were present and dancing was indulged in until a late hour. The guests returning home on the 12:30 car. Light refreshments were served throughout the evening.

The out-of-town guests present were Miss Eva Johnson of Butler, Mont.; Miss Margaret Barr, of Washington, D. C.; Miss Jesse Ewing of Pittsburg; Miss Gray, of Toledo, O.; Miss Margaret Campbell of Concord, N. H.; Miss Edith Taylor, Richmond, Va.; Messrs. Redfield and Davidson of Connellsville.

DUNBAR WEDDING.

James Ainsley and Miss Florence Longie Married This Morning.

James Ainsley, a well known young man of Dunbar, and Miss Florence Longie of Waltersburg, Pa., were married at 8 o'clock in St. Peter's Episcopal church in Uniontown. Rev. Thomas Lloyd of Dunbar officiating. Arthur McVey of Dunbar served as best man.

The ceremony was witnessed by a number of friends of the bride and groom. Mr. Ainsley and his bride boarded a 9 o'clock P. M. train for Pittsburg, where they will spend several days. On their return they will reside at Dunbar.

BODY FOUND.

Of Brooklyn School Teacher Who Disappeared Saturday.

LAKE HOPATONG, N. J., Aug. 27.—(Special.)—The body of Miss Agnes McGuire, a Brooklyn school teacher, who disappeared mysteriously Saturday, was found today in Lake Hopatong. The body bore no bruises. A theory prevails that the girl became frightened at a storm which raged and drifted from a carriage to fall low her cousin and stumbled into the water.

Charles McGuire collapsed, bludgeoned himself for leaving the girl alone in the carriage.

MARRIED IN ROMANIA.

Greene County Girl Bride of Standard Oil Man.

Miss Pearl Hughes, formerly of Clayville, daughter of W. L. Hughes of Clayville, Greene county, and Will Ham Smith, formerly of Belvidere, were united in marriage at Bucharest, Rumania.

The ceremony was performed by the English Minister to Rumania, Rev. Charles Rogers. Mr. Smith is a clerk of the Standard Oil Company in Rumania and his bride has been visiting in the west. The young couple will reside for the present at Bucharest.

OLD FOLKS' DAY.

Arrangements Being Made for it at the M. E. Church.

Arrangements are being made by the Epworth League of the Methodist Episcopal church for the annual old folks' day, to be held Sunday, September 11, in the church on Apple street.

As heretofore, invitations will be issued to old folks from the various denominations. An attractive program has been arranged and refreshments will be served at the close of the program.

BIG EXAMINATION.

Nearly 200 Seek to Be Clerks or Carriers in Pittsburgh Postoffice.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 27.—(Special.)—The latest civil service examination ever held here by the United States Commission will begin tomorrow morning. The examination is for clerks and carriers in the postoffice. Nearly 200 applications have been made. The examinations will continue for three days.

A Coming Wedding.

Cards have been issued for the coming marriage of Miss Wilfred McFarland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McFarland of Vanderhill, and Harry Cochran, Burgess of Dawson.

The wedding will take place September 4 at the home of the bride, and will be a quiet affair, owing to a recent death in the family.

An Infant Dead.

PROFIT BY THE EXPERIENCE OF OTHERS

No other set of books ever gave such absolute satisfaction as JOHN L. STODDARD'S LECTURES. FRANK G. CARTENTER, Traveler, says: "They are an Encyclopedia of live, up-to-date information embracing the world." G. A. SUTHERWORTH, Supt. Schools, says: "They are more need information than the Bible or Shakespeare." Col. ALBERT A. POPE, Manufacturer, says: "They are the best book I ever made." JOHN L. BATES, Gov. of Mass., says: "They are the best set of books I have in my whole library." CHAS. E. M. DEWEY, U.S. Senator, says: "The most picturesque, instructive, and valuable work of travel I have ever seen." R. B. ODDELL, Jr., Gov. of N. Y., says: "They literally bring the world to our very doors. I know of nothing that will broaden the mental horizon of every member of the family so well as this work."

READ WHAT YOUR NEIGHBORS SAY

Prof. J. P. Wiley, former Principal of Schools, says: "I am glad of the opportunity to purchase the Stoddard Lectures, as I regard it as the best work of the kind published." Rev. Wm. A. Riddle, Pastor Presbyterian Church, says: "I regard the pictures as remarkably accurate and the lectures are exceedingly interesting and instructive." Rev. John T. Burns, Pastor Methodist Episcopal Church, says: "Anyone who reads these papers carefully and studies the illustrations thoughtfully will have a more practical knowledge of what the world has done and what it is doing." Dr. Wm. J. Bailey, Eye and Ear Specialist, says: "The educational value to thousands who are not able to make extended travel is great and will be ever increasing." L. E. Smith, President Title & Trust Company, says: "The lucidness makes them very attractive to a busy man." Mrs. T. H. White says: "I have already resolved not to let my girls' worth so that all future use will be clear profit." Mrs. C. H. Brown says: "They are certainly worth some sacrifice on the part of parents, as they are a great help to children in school."
